

What Can I do with a major in Health Science?

Upon completion of their degree, Health Science majors can obtain employment as members of the administrative staff at hospitals and health care system clinics, medical offices, health maintenance organizations and community health programs.

Health Science majors are also prepared to continue your studies in the full range of health science graduate educational curricula.

A Sample of Related Career Opportunities:

Ambulatory Services Specialist	Dietician	Health Safety Officer
Health Center Administrator	Health Consultant	Health Policy Practitioner
Health Planner	Hospital Comptroller	Health Scientist
Hospital Personnel Director	Medical Officer	Outreach Worker
Program Director	Public Health Consultant	Research Assistant
Medical Records Administrator	Residence Counselor	Sanitary Engineer
Public Health Service Officer	Emergency Medical Services Coordinator

Types of Employers:

Private and Non-profit Organizations

Health Maintenance Organizations	Hospitals and Medical Centers
Colleges and Universities	Research and Development Labs
Research Institutes

Government Agencies

Food and Drug Administration	National Institutes of Health
Environmental Protection Agency	Public Health Service
Occupational Safety and Health Administration
Department of Health and Human Services

Links for Health Science Majors

American College of Health Care Administrators: <http://www.achca.org/>

American Association of Healthcare Consultants: <http://www.aahc.net/>

Health Management Careers: <http://www.healthmanagementcareers.org/>

World Health Organization: <http://www.who.int/en/>

Occupational Outlook Handbook: <http://www.bls.gov/oco/>

MonsterTRAK: <http://www.monstertrak.com>