

PRONOUNS

EXERCISE

Subjective Pronouns: (I, he, she, we, they, who) are used in the subject position and after the verb to be.

Objective Pronouns: (me, him, her, us, them, who) are used as objects of verbs and prepositions and as subjects of infinitives.

Underscore the appropriate pronoun in the blank.

1. I was sorry to hear that Chris and (he, him) were hurt.
2. Please give that to Anne for (I, me).
3. (We, Us) Carters come from the South.
4. Would you join Bob and (I, me) for dinner?
5. I was sorry to hear that it was (her, she) who was hurt.
6. I never knew a person as nice as (her, she).
7. For you and (I, me) getting an "A" will be impossible.
8. Why don't you and (I, me) go to the movies?
9. (She, Her) and Mary were late.
10. Mary is taller than (her, she).
11. The girl (who, whom) danced the first number is excellent.
12. Give the clothes to (whomever, whoever) needs them.
13. (Whoever, Whomever) gets done first can sweep the floor.
14. Was that my little brother (who, whom) was riding the bicycle?
15. She is the person (who, whom) you think stole the wallet.
16. Give the ribbon to (whoever, whomever) you think tried the hardest.
17. To (who, whom) should I address the letter?
18. (Who, Whom) is there?
19. Go to (whoever, whomever) is closest.
20. He is the boy (who, whom) just returned from Japan.